The Galactic Truth

Are We Close to Disclosure?

By Paul Dale Roberts, Halo Paranormal Investigations

I believe we are very close to disclosure. Why? Because we have many private companies that are set up to explore space, including Elon Musk's SpaceX, Blue Origin, Virgin Galactic, United Launch Alliance, Arianespace and Axiom Space. Their goal is everything from space tourism, payloads, and even the eventual colonization of Mars.

If an astronaut tourist becomes a whistleblower and says that the four-mile-high spire on the moon is definitely artificial, the information they provide will go viral. We will then have confirmation that we are not alone.

Our government is providing us bits and pieces of information, such as releasing the recent "Tic Tak" UAP video. The government is getting us prepared, including with a groundbreaking congressional hearing on UAPs last year.

Whistleblowers, including Bob Lazar and David Grusch, are stepping forward and revealing what they know about the UFO phenomena. And it's a lot. Whistleblowers are not afraid of the naysayers and skeptics. They are no longer afraid of being labeled "crazy."

Society is listening and watching shows such as Ancient Aliens, as they step back and say to themselves, "Hey, that all makes sense!"

We are discovering planet after planet that are in the so-called "Goldilocks Zone," planets that can support life.

With all of the private organizations exploring space, we also have a multitude of countries that are doing the same, including India, Japan, France, Italy, Australia, China, Russia, and Brazil. If any of these countries discover that there are extraterrestrial artificial structures, there will be whistleblowers who confirm that the moon is hollow and there is an alien base inside. Or, they will tell us that Phobos does indeed have an artificial monolith.

Space explorers from these private companies may gain interest on why the moon is the right size for a total eclipse or why all craters on the moon are so shallow. We may soon find out if the "Face on Mars" is an actual face or if there are really pyramids on Mars.

With the billions and billions of planets in our universe to think we are the only life here is absurd. I believe when scientists tell us that panspermia is not a theory anymore, that it's a scientific fact. We will have our confirmation that we are not alone in the Universe. We will embrace the fact that life is everywhere.◆
